

BY THE CABLE TO SEPTEMBER 10.

Meeting of the North German Parliament.

Speech of the King of Prussia on Progress and Peace.

An Eastern Ruler to Visit the Czar.

Future Action of the British Reform Leaguers.

The Doncaster Races and First Day's Events.

THE GERMAN PARLIAMENT.

Opening of the Session of the North German Legislature—Speech of the King of Prussia—His Hopes of Peace.

The Second Session of the North German Legislature—Speech of the King of Prussia—His Hopes of Peace.

In his speech from the throne, the King of Prussia commenced by addressing a warm welcome to the representatives as members of the first German Parliament which had met under the new constitution.

Addressing to the position of the South German States, he said that national relations with the rest of Germany had been fixed by the treaties of the Zollverein which they had signed.

He assured the members that the financial condition of the Confederation was excellent; its revenues, so far, had been quite sufficient to meet all expenditures.

He promised that bills would be introduced providing for a complete and equal settlement of the terms and conditions of military service, making all necessary regulations in regard to passports, prescribing a system of weights and measures for the country, regulating postal and telegraphic communications, and looking to the establishment of consulates in all foreign ports and to the protection of the commercial marine of the Confederation everywhere on the high seas.

The King concluded his speech with the following beautiful expression:—Gentlemen, progress is to be the great principle underlying all your discussions. Your work will be a work of peace, and by God's blessing, the Fatherland will in peace enjoy the fruits of your labor.

QARIBALDI'S TOUR.

No Entertainment for a Prussian Minister.

The statement that General Garibaldi visited and dined with the Prussian Ambassador while in this city is contradicted.

RUSSIA.

The Shah of Persia and the Czar.

The Shah of Persia has accepted an invitation from his Majesty the Emperor Alexander to visit Russia. It is uncertain whether the Shah will extend his visit beyond the Crimea.

Preparations for the journey are being made at Teheran.

THE ENGLISH TURF.

First Day of the Doncaster Races—A Number of Prominent Events—The Winners and Stakes.

The races at Doncaster were inaugurated with much spirit to-day, attracting a very large attendance, including most of the prominent turfites of the United Kingdom.

Among the events upon the card for to-day were the Filly Stakes, the Glasgow Stakes, the Great Yorkshire Handicap, the Champagne Stakes and the Fitzwilliam Stakes.

The Filly Stakes, for two-year old fillies, amounting in value to £250, were won by Athena.

The Glasgow Stakes, so named after the Earl of Glasgow, were carried off by Donalbhain.

The Great Yorkshire Handicap, for which there were originally eight subscribers, and which was run over the St. Leger Course, was won by Seville, a lightly weighted three-year old, carrying five stone ten pounds. The value of the stakes was £550.

In the race for the Champagne Stakes—the cash value of which was £1,500—Blissworth was first and Vertue second; but the former was ruled out for overreaching, and the stakes awarded to Vertue.

The Fitzwilliam Stakes, valued at £145, were won by Trigon.

Upon the famous St. Leger, which is the greatest event of the Doncaster meeting, is very heavy both at Doncaster and at Tattersall's; and from the character of the horses known as starters, a splendid race is anticipated.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

The London Money Market.—LONDON, Sept. 10.—Evening.—Consols closed at 94 1/2 for money. American securities closed at the following rates:—United States 75; Erie Railroad shares, 44 1/2; Atlantic and Great Western consolidated shares, 21 1/2.

Mr. Bunsen's resolution.

The CHAIRMAN said he strongly objected to the assertion that the statement he had read deserved the flag of the League.

Mr. LEBLANC said that the statement just read resented the principles of the League, and proposed to deal with the present state of things by proceeding in order to get the League to the point of view of the League.

Mr. Bunsen supported the resolution moved by Mr. LEBLANC, as did also Mr. WINTHROP.

THE WAR IN CANADA.

Circular of the Ottoman Government to the Christian World.

A telegram from Athens of the 15th of August says:—The following letter has been addressed by the Imperial Government of Greece to the consuls of England, France, Russia, Austria, Prussia, Italy, Greece, Sweden and the United States of America:—

Members of the Consulate-General of Turkey, Omar Pasha, having failed in his last expedition, in spite of the immense military preparations, to subvert the Ottoman Empire, has been obliged to retreat, and has abandoned himself without restraint to the forces of a ferocious tribe. He burned all the villages of the country, with the exception of the one named Osmak, and has killed the inhabitants of the small provinces and the towns and scattered the remains of the persons who had been taken into captivity. He has also killed the Greek and Armenian population of the country, and has committed the most heinous crimes. He has also committed the most heinous crimes. He has also committed the most heinous crimes.

BY STEAMSHIP TO SEPTEMBER 1.

The steamship Atlanta, Captain Hoyer, from Bremen on the 25th ult., arrived at this port yesterday afternoon.

The Concord steamship China, from Liverpool on the 21st of August, via Queenstown, on the 1st of September, arrived at Halifax at four o'clock yesterday morning, and sailed again at ten o'clock A. M. for Boston.

Our European flies by the steamship Austrian, dated on the 25th of August, reached this city, from Quebec yesterday.

The writers for the Paris press had barely time to read the speech delivered by the Emperor at Aves, yet many of them criticised it. The Journal des Debats affirms that the Aves speech is pacific, although it does not contain any precise declaration. The Patrie says that the best is to be found in the address presented to the government upon the imperial letter respecting the parish roads.

After describing the pacific character of the speech, the Journal de Paris, from an opposition point of view, says:—

The Emperor could not have been thinking of the feelings of the people whose districts he had just passed through, since the functions to whom he was replying had expressed the most pacific views. The words, however, could scarcely have been applied to the other members of the assembly, for we have not yet learned that morose tendencies have been manifested anywhere. In one word, it seems to us that to the present moment our patriots have been better than real, but at the same time very little given to the impulses against which we are told to be on our guard. But, in spite of all drawbacks, we acknowledge that the speech is pacific.

According to various French journals the recent visit of the King of Sweden and the King of Prussia had for its object principally a family alliance. The Paris Siecle alludes to the rumor in question for the purpose of insinuating on the fact that such unions now exercise but little influence on the destiny of nations.

A letter from Vienna, in the North German Gazette, states that the remains of the Duke de Reichstadt will probably be conveyed to Paris some time in September, before the visit of the Emperor of Austria to the Court of the Tuileries.

The Independence Bazaar.—The liquidation of the property of the German Confederation, which has been proceeding in close connection with the task of having been dissolved, is as known, at the end of last month. The value of the property is estimated at 20 million marks in Berlin, and at 18 million in Vienna. The liquidation, not comprising the value of the four fortresses (Mayence, Ulm, Rastatt and Landau), nor the produce of the sale of the Imperial Austrian and Prussian possessions in Frankfurt, which is estimated at 400,000 florins. The liabilities amount to 3,754,400 florins.

The Paris Constitutionnel publishes the subjoined note:—

Several journals have recently spoken of concentrations of troops, actually accomplished or projected, on the Italian frontier. The same journals now, echoing statements published in foreign papers, assert that similar agitations are ordered on the northern and eastern frontiers, and mention the troops of the camp of Chalon as intended to reinforce the garrisons on that side of France. They add that the soldiers' general brigades and under the command of the same general officers. All these statements are equally incorrect. There is no intention whatever of concentrating troops on any of our frontiers.

Two cases of Asiatic cholera were admitted to St. Patrick Dun's Hospital, Dublin. Each of these cases had come from a house and locality in which cholera had been prevalent last year; but the disease in 1867 had hitherto shown no disposition to spread. The medical officers are of opinion that the cholera in Dublin will be sporadic in 1867, whereas it was epidemic in 1866.

BRITISH REFORM.

Preparations of the People for Action under the New Bill—Manhood Suffrage and Vote by Ballot to be Demanded—Proposed Consolidation of the Leaguers against Aristocratic Reaction.

[From the London Star, August 29.]

Last night a crowded meeting of the Council of the Reform League was held at their rooms, Adelphi Terrace, where the League had just received a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

FELLOW COUNTRYMEN.—A Reform act, valuable both for the principles it admits and for the extension of the franchise it confers, has been introduced into the House of Commons, and is now before the House. It is a bill which, if passed, will be a landmark in the history of the British Empire. It is a bill which, if passed, will be a landmark in the history of the British Empire. It is a bill which, if passed, will be a landmark in the history of the British Empire.

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

The CHAIRMAN said that the chief business before the meeting was to put forth a statement of the immediate objects of the League. He then read a statement, which had been in the hands of the executive, and which would now read to the meeting for the suggestion of any alteration or amendment. The statement was as follows:—

PERSONS, whose names we have not been able to learn, also

The Ottoman Government, while deploring these brutal and

and impious acts, which enlightenment and civilization condemned, and which the nations had the duty to condemn, and

and impious acts, which enlightenment and civilization condemned, and which the nations had the duty to condemn, and

and impious acts, which enlightenment and civilization condemned, and which the nations had the duty to condemn, and

and impious acts, which enlightenment and civilization condemned, and which the nations had the duty to condemn, and

and impious acts, which enlightenment and civilization condemned, and which the nations had the duty to condemn, and

and impious acts, which enlightenment and civilization condemned, and which the nations had the duty to condemn, and

and impious acts, which enlightenment and civilization condemned, and which the nations had the duty to condemn, and

and impious acts, which enlightenment and civilization condemned, and which the nations had the duty to condemn, and

and impious acts, which enlightenment and civilization condemned, and which the nations had the duty to condemn, and

and impious acts, which enlightenment and civilization condemned, and which the nations had the duty to condemn, and

and impious acts, which enlightenment and civilization condemned, and which the nations had the duty to condemn, and

and impious acts, which enlightenment and civilization condemned, and which the nations had the duty to condemn, and

and impious acts, which enlightenment and civilization condemned, and which the nations had the duty to condemn, and

and impious acts, which enlightenment and civilization condemned, and which the nations had the duty to condemn, and

and impious acts, which enlightenment and civilization condemned, and which the nations had the duty to condemn, and

and impious acts, which enlightenment and civilization con-